

CONDUIT

The Newsletter for License Coordinators of
TeachingBooks.net

December 2010

Vol. 6, No. 12

*This monthly newsletter provides the inside scoop on how you can maximize the use of TeachingBooks.
Please forward pertinent information to your colleagues.*

Thanks TeachingBooks.net Supporters!

As you know, every month we at TeachingBooks compose this Conduit Newsletter for License Coordinators to help you stay aware of the latest tools and strategies to maximize your use and enjoyment of TeachingBooks.

As this winter holiday season sets in, we wanted to simplify this monthly newsletter by writing only two details:

First, have a great vacation!

Second, please ask us to lead any trainings and offer assistance to your colleagues to help everyone in your institution who uses K–12 books learn how TeachingBooks supports their existing reading and library work. Over the past few years, we have clarified our focus: striving to ensure that teachers, students, parents, curriculum coordinators—anyone—can look up a book in our database and find multimedia materials that will inform and expand conversations about it.

We thank you for this opportunity to share author and book resources with your educational community. Also, we look forward to a fantastic spring semester with lots of new resources and site enhancements to support your literacy work.

Our very best,
TeachingBooks.net

Nick Glass, Founder & Executive Director

P.S. We occasionally learn of special, free, and enjoyable opportunities for you that we feel support the mission of TeachingBooks. Author Tommy Donbavand of the Scream Street series is looking for excited elementary schools in all 50 states to host him for a free Skype visit this winter/spring semester. There is no charge to host this, but preparation of the event will take some time. If interested, please contact his publicist directly: Anne Irza-Leggat, anne.irza-leggat@candlewick.com.

Thanks! Let us know how we can help you use and enjoy TeachingBooks! 800-596-0710

© 2009 TeachingBooks.net LLC. All rights reserved.